

Code of Conduct

This code of conduct is required of anyone who participates in, observes, teaches, assists, or otherwise is present at a training program, conference, webinar, teleconference, workshop, on-line community, or other learning event organized by the Center for Deliberate Psychotherapy, LLC (CDP).

CDP requires that attendees of its events and activities create and maintain an appropriate and harassment-free learning environment for themselves and others. While all parts are welcome, all behavior is not.

Behaviors that are not aligned with our Code of Conduct include:

- Aggressive or hostile verbal comments and/or behavior
- Displaying or allowing to be displayed sexual images in public spaces
- Intimidation or stalking
- Unwanted, uninvited or not approved photography or recording
- Sustained or frequent disruption of training program exercises and activities
- Inappropriate physical contact
- Unwelcome sexual attention
- Overt disregard for the impact of one's words or actions on historically marginalized group members
- Inability to work effectively in a group setting, including a lack of willingness to work toward repair with other participants, even with the support of training program staff
- Inability to unblend from aggressive, hostile, controlling, or otherwise significantly disruptive parts, even with facilitation
- Using training communication channels (e.g., WhatsApp, Zoom Chat) or time during training events for purposes not aligned with the learning objectives of program
- Engaging in any behavior contrary to the Safety and Confidentiality provisions set forth below
- Advocating for or encouraging any of the above behavior

Safety and Confidentiality

Training programs and other learning events are not psychotherapy sessions. All components of the training or other learning event, including those components that are experiential in nature, are for the purpose of teaching the IFS model. Therefore, the interactions and information shared by participants are not privileged communications as they might be during actual therapy sessions.

Participants and staff may not make audio or visual recordings of any part of any training or learning event. Only the trainer(s) and anyone specifically authorized by them, may record pieces of a training or learning event. The contents of the training, including lecture slides, handouts, worksheets, and any other materials are copyrighted by CDP and may only be shared by permission from the author and CDP or unless otherwise noted.

CDP reserves the right to pursue appropriate legal remedies and/or remove from and/or restrict access to CDP trainings, learning events or social media platforms for any failure to abide by this Code of Conduct.

Refunds & Withdrawals

You may receive a full refund up to 2 weeks before the training's start date. After this date, registrations are non-refundable. To request a refund, contact the trainer: training@deliberatepsych.com.

Feedback & Surveys

If you have a concern regarding the conduct of a member of the training, please contact the trainer to discuss options.

Following the training, you will be asked to complete a survey regarding your experience with the training. Your responses will be used for three purposes:

1. For purposes of recordkeeping and CE evaluation.
2. To improve the training materials, facilitation, and structure.
3. Optionally, your responses may be used for advertising purposes.

Attendance & CE Certificate

In order to receive the certificate of completion, you must attend at least 5.25 hours of the workshop. If you are going to be absent during any of the workshop, please notify the trainer to ensure breakout rooms and group activities are not impacted.

Following successful completion of the workshop, you will receive a CE certificate noting the name and IFS-I training record number that you may use when applying for or renewing IFS certification.
